■ Mandarin Intensive Course in May

2-weeks Mandarin Intensive
May 24 – June 4, 2010

■ Course description

The basic course „Effective Chinese“ provides you with an overview of Mandarin, the Chinese standard language as well as a basic vocabulary, which allows you to communicate in everyday situations at work and in your spare time. This course is suitable for you, if you

- have no or only little previous knowledge of Chinese
- want to communicate in Chinese at work and in your leisure time
- wish to speak uninhibitedly

The open Mandarin training we conduct in Shanghai takes place at fixed dates. You will learn the vocabulary in the Latin transcription Pinyin. The systematic rehearsal of pronunciation and an introduction to Chinese grammar is the basis of this seminar. The main focus is on listening and speaking. The course language is German or English. You will find all dates for our open Mandarin courses at our websites www.sinalingua.com.cn or www.sinalingua.de.

By the time the course is finished you will have acquired language skills for most important situations at work and in your leisure time, such as greetings, introductions, making an appointment, shopping, invitations, banquets, small talk, etc.

■ Target group

Our class is meant for business people who have contact to Chinese business partners as well as for people who want to extend their language skills for everyday life in China.

■ Further Mandarin courses

To further develop your communication skills, apart from basic courses we also offer individual courses for advanced learners and individual classes on the basis of package lessons. This package includes at least 60 lessons (45 minutes each) and can be arranged with a flexible time table.
